The American Architect
AND Building News,

Now in its fifteenth year of successful publication, is published in three editions—the INTERNATIONAL, the IMPERIAL and the REGULAR.

In all the essentials it continues to be similar to what it has been during 1889.

The series of papers on "Architectural Shades and Shadows," "Old Colonial Work in Virginia and Maryland," "Equestrian Monuments," and "Safe Building," are continued. Many new features are added.

Mr. T. H. Bartlett's valuable life of Fremiet, the celebrated French sculptor, is in course of preparation.

Other papers are in preparation on Italian Towers, Applied Architectural Calculations, Visits to Spanish Cities, Travels in Mexico, etc.

Among the Illustrations will be additional Series of Rotch Scholarship Drawings, Scotch Baronial Halls, etc.

Careful investigation has proved that "The American Architect" costs the subscriber less per page than any American journal of its class, while it contains vastly more illustrations.

Send to TICKNOR & COMPANY for specimen copy.

"The author proposes to furnish to any earnest student the opportunity to acquire, so far as books will teach, the knowledge necessary to erect safely any building. First comes an introductory chapter on the Strength of Materials. This chapter gives the value of, and explains briefly, the different terms used, such as stress, strain, factor of safety, centre of gravity, neutral axis, moment of inertia, etc. There follow a series of chapters, each dealing with some part of a building, giving practical advice and numerous calculations of strength; for instance, chapters on foundations, walls and piers, columns, beams, roof and other trusses, spires, masonry, girders, inverted and floor-arches, sidewalks, stairs, chimneys, etc."

These papers are the work of a practising architect, and not of a mere book-maker or theorist. Mr. Berg, aiming to make his work of the greatest value to the largest number, has confined himself in his mathematical demonstrations to the use of arithmetic, algebra, and plane geometry. In short, these papers are in the highest sense practical and valuable.

Can hardly fail to meet a special need of the day — especially in Chicago, since the fall of the Owen Building — a work by Louis de Coppet Berg, on "Safe Building." It is written by a practising architect, and it furnishes to any earnest student the information that teaches, so far as a book can teach, how to erect safely any building. — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

BLACKALL'S (Clarence H.) Builders' Hardware. A Manual for Architects, Builders, and Building Furnishers. Square 8vo. With five hundred illustrations and figures. $5.00.

The subject of Builder's Hardware is one which has a direct bearing upon the work of the architect, contractor, hardware dealer, etc., and is, at the same time, of vital interest to the builder. This work is not intended to be overcritical in its nature, nor necessarily so exhaustive as to embrace all the inventions and arrangements comprised in the general term of builders' hardware, though an attempt has been made to discriminate between what is merely novel and what is really suitable, and, so far as possible, the best of everything is noticed under the various heads, and an effort made to represent as nearly as possible the conditions, prices, and limitations of the builders' hardware market, as well as to show what is valuable for the uses of the architect.

BROWNING'S (Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett) Sonnets from the Portuguese. Illustrated by Ludvig Sandöe Ipsen. 1 vol. Oblong folio. Beautifully bound. Gilt top. $15.00. In full tree-calf, $30.00.

New edition, $8.00.

This magnificent work was a labor of love for years with the artist, who is the prince of decorators, and has lavished upon it all the resources of his imagination and skill. The result is a marvellous monument to the poems that are enshrined therein, and a series of designs, the equals of which as a mere treasury of decoration and invention, apart from their significance in illustrating the immortal verse of Mrs. Browning, have never been issued in America. Each sonnet is prefaced by a richly ornamental half-title, on a full page, and is surrounded by a handsome border, emblematic in its design and composition. Mr. Ipsen has for many years been recognized as the foremost leader of art-decoration for books, both inside and outside, and has set more fashions for imitation than any other artist. This book is his crowning work, and affords an inexhaustible treasury of decoration for students of art, and a life-study for all lovers of beauty and symmetry. Mrs. Browning's sonnets are among the noblest productions of ancient or modern literature; and their literary excellence and incomparable beauty of diction insure for them certain immortality.

BUDDHIST RECORDS OF THE WESTERN WORLD. Translated from the original Chinese, with Introduction, Index, etc. By Samuel Beal, Trinity College, Cambridge. 2 vols. 12mo. $7.00.

A work prepared by the Chinese Buddhist Pilgrim, Hiuen Tsiang, from documents brought from India by himself in the seventh century. It embodies also an account of his travels in that country and through some portion of Central Asia. Being the result of personal knowledge and experience, it is a work of the utmost value for the History of India, as it was just before the rise of Islam. It is, moreover, full of legend and old-world folk-lore, and on every account it affords us the best material for estimating the wonderful effect which the rise and development of Buddhism had on the old national life of India and neighboring countries.

BUDGE'S (Ernest A.) The History of Esarhaddon (Son of Sennacherib), King of Assyria, B.C. 681-668. From Cuneiform Inscriptions. 8vo. Gilt top. $4.00.

Translated from the cuneiform inscriptions upon cylinders and tablets in the British Museum collection. . . . The histories of Sennacherib and Assur-bani-pal, Kings of Assyria, have already been written by the late Mr. George Smith. Esarhaddon was the father of Assur-bani-pal, and the three histories thus include sketches of father, son, and grandson, presenting a fair account of the three greatest kings that ever ruled over Assyria. Their reigns, taken together, cover a period of nearly eighty years; but an exact idea of the influence of this family upon Assyria can only be made out clearly from the documents and records which they themselves caused to be written. — New York Times.

CHAMBERLAIN'S (Basil Hall) The Classical Poetry of the Japanese. 8vo. $3.00.

CLARK'S (T. M.) Building Superintendence. 8vo. With Plans, etc $3.00.

Introduction — The Construction of a Stone Church — Wooden Dwelling-Houses — A Model Specification — Contracts — The Construction of a Town Hall — Index.

There is hardly any practical problem in construction, from the building of a stone town-hall or church to that of a wooden cottage, that is not carefully considered and discussed here; and a very full index helps to make this treasury of facts accessible. Every person interested in building should possess this work, which is approved as authoritative by the best American architects.

CROWNINSHIELD'S (FREDERIC) Mural Painting. 1 vol. Square 8vo. With numerous full-page Illustrations. $3.00.

One chapter of this book treats of the vehicle with which colors were mixed and the application of heat in frescoing or "encaustic and tempera of the ancients." Another is on "The Wall." "Modern Encaustic" follows. Next comes "Fresco." A chapter on "Byzantium and Mt. Athos" is succeeded by another on "Byzantine Fresco." Next we may read of the "Durability of Fresco; its Present Possibilities; Fresco compared with Wax-Painting; Fresco Secco." The three last chapters are respectively on "Oil Painting," "Water Glass," and "The Education and Qualifications of the Mural Painter." There are a dozen full-page illustrations in the volume, with a good many figures in the text besides. At the close occurs descriptive text concerning the illustrations, historic and other, scattered throughout the book.

Mr. Crowninshield's book is all that can be desired. It describes the genuine methods, and every step of the process, together with the scientific facts and principles, which are required to make the whole intelligible. — The Independent.

EDMUNDSON'S (GEORGE) Milton and Vondel. 8vo. $2.50.

This work shows that Milton was largely indebted in the composition of his "Paradise Lost" to the "Lucifer," a drama, of his illustrious Dutch contemporary, Ioost van den Vondel; also to "Joannes Boetgegant," an epic; to "De Bespiegelingen van Godt en Godtsdienst," a didactico-religious poem; and to "Adam in Ballingschap," a drama, by the same writer, in portions both of "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained;" and lastly that Vondel's drama, "Samson," has considerable claims to be regarded as the literary parent of "Samson Agonistes."

These noble and beautiful songs have been for many years popular with the American people, from Maine to California, and there is hardly a man or woman in the Republic that does not know and love them. They are now for the first time published in sumptuous Holiday editions, with remarkable richness and beauty of illustrations and bindings, and find thousands of buyers everywhere.

The Southern scenes, illustrated in these poems with so much eloquence and pathos, have been reproduced in admirable pictures, drawn on the spot, by the well-known artist, Charles Copeland, who spent a long season in Georgia and other Southern States, making these very telling sketches of scenes on the old plantations.

FRITH'S (I.) The Life and Works of Giordano Bruno. 8vo. With Portrait. $4.50.

The recent re-habilitation of Bruno, and the imposing ceremonies of the dedication of his statue in Rome give especial interest to Mr. Frith's work.

In this volume, a difficult task is well performed. The demands of his subject and of the necessary mode of treating it have required of its author that he leave the prosaic, matter-of-fact themes of our modern literary work, and pass up into the æther, to report to us what it yields to the speculations of the idealist. . . . The author has given loving labor, unwearied diligence, and sympathetic feeling to his task. His readers will not fail to appreciate his efforts, by analysis, explication, and comment, to render Bruno's mystical essays intelligible. — Christian Register.

This series was designed with a view to illustrating the most notable, imposing, and interesting of our American public and semi-public buildings with adequate groups of large and attractive pictures, carefully printed on plate paper, and with their absolute accuracy insured by the use of the photographic process. The edifices thus illustrated are among the most conspicuous on the continent, by reason of their great size or architectural value; and a careful study of their proportions will be of interest to all architects and students of the fine arts. The copious array of details given adds to the practical working and studying availability of the Monographs; while the beauty of the pictures as works of art should insure them a place in all libraries where art works are sought and cherished.

PFEIFFER'S* (Carl, F. A. I. A.) American Mansions and Cottages. 100 folio plates. Issued in five parts. Contained in a handsome portfolio. $10.00.

During the last ten years or more of his life, the late Carl Pfeiffer, F.A.I.A., of New York, busied himself in preparing for publication a work on American Domestic Architecture; and during this time had prepared with much elaboration, over three hundred drawings.

The drawings represent designs by Mr. Pfeiffer for dwelling-houses of various classes, with all their details, both decorative and constructive, carefully worked out, and perspective views of each house from several points. The draughtsmanship is excellent, and many of the drawings have been made by Mr. Bassett Jones and other draughtsmen of nearly equal capacity.

One hundred of these drawings, carefully selected as the best, have been chosen for publication, forming the most unique and useful work ever issued upon the subject for either the profession or the public.

PUTNAM'S (J. Pickering) The Open Fire-Place in all Ages. With 300 Illustrations, 53 full-page. 12mo. $4.00.

It has been carefully revised and greatly enlarged, with handsome and large type, pages, and binding, fine and heavy paper, and with over three hundred illustrations, including numerous chefs d'œuvre of designs of Fire-Places and interior decoration, contributed for this edition by the ablest Architects of the country. 1 vol. 8vo. $4.00.

The First Section treats of the Fire-Place as it now is, explaining how incorrectly it is constructed, and gives many startling facts, based on careful experiment, to show how great a loss of heat (from 80 to 90 per cent) it occasions.

The Second Section reviews in an attractive manner the historical development of the subject, from its remotest origin in the dim ages of the past to the present day. This chapter contains over 179 charming illustrations.

The third and last chapter treats of the improvement of the Open Fire-Place, and teaches us how it is possible to combine, in one construction, the healthfulness, beauty, and charm of the Open Fire-Place, with the efficiency and economy of the closed stove or hot-air furnace.

The designs, even of the most unimportant accessories, are made with the same careful study and refined taste as of the more important features.

At length Messrs. Haldane and Kemp essayed the task, and the testimony of scholars is all but unanimous to the admirable manner in which they have carried out their undertaking."

This contains 30 plates, reproduced in fac-simile from the author's sketches in pen, pencil, and water-colors, by the most approved processes, and printed on 15x20 heavy plate paper, in specially designed portfolio. The edition is limited to 250 copies for sale, each of which is numbered. Price, $15.00 per set.

A portfolio of sketches of interesting and useful examples of architecture, details, etc., never before published, of work of peculiar interest to architects at the present time. These sketches were made during a nine months' tour of study abroad in Italy, France, Spain, and in the South Kensington Museum. The work is as interesting to the non-professional as it is useful to the architect, not only in reference to detail, but as to mass and grouping; avoiding details which are tiresome, fragmentary, and useless, but giving those of peculiar interest and charm.

The author has found, away from beaten paths, interesting examples of the old manoirs, or French manor houses, and châteaux. Among the plates are presented several of these manoirs; half-timbered houses, with details, from Normandy and Brittany; work of the period of Francis I.; towers, châteaux; details from the Italian and French Renaissance; Romanesque and Byzantine work of Venice and Ravenna, and the Romanesque of the Auvergnes; wrought iron from Venice and from Spain, and from the South Kensington Museum, etc.

VIOLLET-LE-DUC'S (E. E.) Discourses on Architecture. With many Steel Plates, and hundreds of Woodcuts. 2 vols. 8vo. $15.00.

In refreshing contrast to the aimless conjecture which forms the staple of most discoursings on architecture. The illustrations display the same astonishing faculty, not so much of merely drawing as of clearly seeing in all its details, so as to be able to decompose and recompose it, — an object which has no existence except in the imagination of the draughtsman. In this faculty nobody has ever equalled the French master of architectural illustration. — New York World.

WARE'S (WILLIAM R., Professor of Architecture in the School of Mines, Columbia College) Modern Perspective. A Treatise upon the Principles and Practice of Plane and Cylindrical Perspective. 1 vol. 12mo. 321 pages. With Portfolio of 27 Plates. $5.00.

This is by far the most exhaustive of modern works on the subjects relating to perspective, plane, and panoramic, and will be of great value to all architects and artists, and others interested in the problems of art. The scientific and pictorial aspects of these investigations are carefully and thoroughly considered, both independently and in their connection with drawing; and the propositions of the author are illustrated by plates of architectural objects and perspective plans. An invaluable book for artists, architects, draughtsmen, and civil engineers.

The book is written in clear English, free from unnecessary technicalities, and in a much more felicitous style than such text-books usually are. The plates required a prodigious quantity of careful work, and are correspondingly valuable. — New York World.

It is certainly the first praise to be given to Colonel Waring's travels that he makes each of his countries appetizing. The cleanliness, order, and rural wealth of Holland; the romantic, old-world aspect of Normandy; the picturesque beauty of the Channel Islands, — these all appear in unexpected attractiveness. . . . Every reader of Colonel Waring's "Whip and Spur" will here find the same agreeable qualities which mark that attractive little volume, — graphic descriptions, manly straightforwardness, and a certain indescribable, easy, and, as it were, cavalry gait in the narrative. — Review of "A Farmer's Vacation," Scribner's Magazine.

The zest of the author's equine adventures is reflected in his racy descriptions. His enthusiasm at seeing a good horse and his pleasure at mounting him, the reader finds very contagious. The story of Vixen, a wonderful mare upon whom the author came by a freak of such good fortune as only a first-rate horseman deserves, makes one of the best of the sketches. — New York Evening Post.

Years ago, when Mr. Charles Wickes was engaged in the preparation of his famous work on "Spires and Towers of Mediæval English Churches," he had the good fortune and good sense to consult certain members of the architectural profession, who earnestly besought him to print, before the completion and issue of the more elaborate colored drawings, an uncolored edition of his work for the special use of architects. Thanks to this intervention, he was enabled to place before the profession one of the most useful and beautiful architectural works which have found a place in architectural libraries.

The plates, having been printed at an intermediate stage, are essentially outline drawings, but the artistic cunning of the author and the skill of the lithographic artists who translated his drawings for reproduction have made them more than this — in fact very models of architectural sketching of a very high degree of accuracy and finish.

This work Messrs. Ticknor & Co. have reprinted, not in its original form of three volumes, but the entire work in a single volume. Owing to the great skill and care exercised by the Heliotype Printing Company, these prints have lost nothing of their original force and delicacy in reproduction, and the reprint is quite as valuable and useful as the original, when an architect, who is about to begin upon a new ecclesiastical design, desires to inspire himself from this most fecund source. The present edition contains, also, in full, the valuable notes and criticisms of the original, making forty pages of text and notes, not less valuable than the plates.

The work is now ready, and every architect should add to his library this most useful work.

WORMELEY'S (KATHARINE PRESCOTT) The Other Side of War. With the Army of the Potomac. 8vo Illustrated. $2.50.

No library of the literature of the Civil War would be complete without Miss Wormeley's recently issued volumes, "The Other Side of the War." Miss Wormeley was a member of the United States Sanitary Commission at its formation, in 1861, and worked unweariedly in the collection and forwarding of supplies from Newport, R. I., so long as they were called for. In May, 1862, she joined the Hospital Transport Service, and was sent on board the steamer "Daniel Webster," from New York to Yorktown, on the Peninsula, where the "Army of the Potomac" was then lying. She remained at Yorktown and Harrison's Landing during the campaign, helping distribute supplies and care for the sick, and returned to New York in the latter part of July. During her service she wrote home a series of letters descriptive of her everyday life and work on board the boat and in hospital. They give a very vivid idea of "the other side of the war," — a side that has been very little written about, and yet which is as interesting in its varied phases as that of active warfare and bloodshed. The book is very handsomely brought out, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Commandery of the Loyal Legion of the United States. — Transcript.

THE PEOPLE'S HYMNAL,

For Church, Chapel, Prayer Room, and Sunday-school. Arranged by Rev. E. S. Lorenz. The attention of pastors and music committees desiring a new hymnal for their church services, devotional meetings, Y. P. S. C. E., and other like uses, is called to this new publication which we believe is the best of its kind in the field. It contains the standard hymns of the ages, set to their accepted tunes, omitting few, if any, that are in general use. The rich fund of recent English hymns and music has been most judiciously drawn upon. The accepted standard translations of classic, Latin, and German hymns are included. A full selection of the most popular gospel songs has been secured at large expense. The best songs of Sankey, McGranahan, Bliss, Doane, Lowry, Stebbins, Baltzell, Excell, Sweeney, Lorenz, Kirkpatrick,—indeed the cream of all the various recent collections of gospel hymns give practical value to this hymnal. It is better than any one of these ephemeral books, because it contains the valuable permanent elements of them all. It will be found equally well adapted for the public service, the prayer-meeting, or the stirring revival. Five hundred and forty-eight hymns and songs. The arrangement is most convenient and is aided by full indexes. The book presents a handsome appearance, is printed on good paper, and is durably bound.

"I have not been trying to read the book, but really I cannot keep from reading it. It helps me to see things which I could not understand before. I have read many books on the Holy Land, and the best I could secure. My studies as a teacher have necessarily enlisted me greatly in such books, and yet this one is clearer than any book I have read on the Holy Land. What is remarkable in my home is the fact that my family did not allow it to be taken to my study, there to remain. But they all read it with like interest."—Dr. L. Davis, Union Biblical Seminary.

NEW YORK.

The Van Everen Adjustable Book Cover Protectors.

PATENTED MAY, 1870, AND FEBRUARY 14, 1888.

For all Bound Books, Especially those used in Schools and Libraries.

These Protectors are made of STRONG MANILA PAPER, self-sealing and adjustable, so as to fit all the usual sizes of school text-books and library books. As a neat book protector, at trifling cost, they are very popular. These Book Covers are known and used from Maine to Oregon, and in England and India. They are the only supplementary covers that can be successfully and inexpensively used on the varying sizes of school and library books. They are to be found in all the Book and Stationery stores of the principal cities and towns. They are becoming as staple as envelopes, and, for all book-users, as indispensable.

Dealers in School Books and School Supplies are every year increasing their orders for the book covers to be used for ADVERTISING PURPOSES. The business card of the Dealer is printed on the outside of the cover, which, when in use on a book, secures attention to his name and business.

Pupils of the schools are willing to use covers thus printed, and keep their books constantly covered.

Samples of the covers, plain, or printed with the business card of the Dealer, will be sent, with the wholesale prices, to any Bookseller or Stationer who will send a postal card request.

Each number of the one-quarter inch size, from 1 to 1000, is sold separately also 100 of each number put up in little envelopes. In this way we can supply 100 of a number, as 100 all No. 1, or 100 of any number, from 1 to 1000, per 100, 8 cts.

If many thousands are wanted the price would be very much less. Where numbers above 10,000 are wanted, we furnish them by stamping them in, on our prepared blanks. The appearance of the numbers is almost the same, and in this way we can supply them in consecutive order, from where our stock numbers stop (10,000), up to 100,000. Any even hundred.

The cost is greater, of course. About $1 per 1000. We make special labels for large libraries any way they want them, and if in large lots the cost is no greater than for the regular numbers.

The most of the labels made to order for the libraries are of the compound form, i. e., the label is double the height of the one-quarter inch number label and one-third wider. In the upper division of the label (the numerators' place) we print the class number, leaving the lower half of the label (the denominators' place) blank—to be filled in with ink at the libraries.

In this way the "Amherst or Dewey system" is carried out by sticking on one label only.

If the libraries prefer such numbers not gummed, we can usually furnish them so; though the gum is no objection, as the labels may be put on in the same manner whether gummed or not gummed.

Of course, the labels that are not gummed will keep more safely, as they do not become so "stuck up" in damp weather.

DICTIONARIES.

Nuttall's Standard Dictionary of the English Language. A new illustrated edition; revised, extended, and improved throughout, by Rev. James Wood, Edinburgh. Principal features: New, Clear Type; 100,000 References, containing all New Words introduced into common parlance, Science, and Literature. It is an Etymological Dictionary, giving Derivation and meaning of all root words. It is Illustrated, contains tables of pronunciation of Classical, Geographical, and Scriptural names, and for scholastic and home use is undoubtedly the handiest dictionary extant. In large crown 8vo, 832 pages, cloth 1.00

Ditto, indexed (Denison's Patent Index) 1.50

Or, half French morocco, indexed 2.50

Prospectus and specimen page free.

 This is the only complete edition of Nuttall. Printed from new type, corrected up to 1889, its success is phenomenal, upwards of a quarter of a million copies having been sold of this new edition alone; and any one possessing this book has no need of an unabridged dictionary.

 The Phonetic Method, so far as is possible, is used in explaining the pronunciation. This means spelling the words in accordance with their sound in speaking. The ordinary orthoepic method is difficult to remember, hence most people have to look, first for the word, then for the orthoepic sign, and then for the key to the sign. Mr. Nuttall's method covers all, for with a single inspection one sees at a glance the way a word is spoken and what it means.—Book Notes.

In square cr. 8vo, about 400 pages, beautifully printed, and with handsomely designed litho cover. Price, $1.00.

Fifty Years on the Trail:

BY JOHN Y. NELSON AND HARRINGTON O'REILLY.

Illustrated with over 100 Graphic Sketches, by Paul Frenzeny.

This thrilling story of frontier adventure will be found a record of exceptionally hazardous times, dealing, as it does, with the personal history of an old-time scout, guide and interpreter, who recounts his deeds of prowess with true sangfroid, and who lives to see cities and towns now standing, where he formerly hunted the buffalo, and was himself hunted by the Pawnee and Sioux.

 Scattered through its thirty chapters are interesting experiences connected with Cattle Herding—First Hunting Experiences—The Platte River—Adoption by the Indians—A few Words about Buffaloes—The Sun-dance—Trapping Beaver—Fighting the Pawnees—Sioux Method of Warfare—Among the Mormons—Establishment of Salt Lake City—Meeting with Emigrants—Establishment of Fort Kearney—An Indian Surprise—The Mountain Meadow Massacre—Life in a Mormon House—The Destroying Angel—Desperadoes in Denver—Responsibility of a Scout—Deadwood—Sitting Bull—Mining in the Black Hills—Indian Agents and their Tactics—A "Run out" with Cody, etc., etc.

Extracts from Preface. "This book is really a chapter on American frontier history. The spots where villages, townships and even cities now stand, were familiar to Nelson as camping grounds long before the march of civilization had penetrated the vast tract of country lately marked on the map of the United States as 'unexplored.'—Few men have run more risks in life and few can congratulate themselves on having had more lucky escapes.

"Few living artists can paint an Indian as Paul Frenzeney, and fewer can depict scenes and character in the West as he can. With him this is a gift enhanced by long residence amongst these people. Had I sought the whole wide world thro, I could not have found a more able pictorial exponent than he.

"Illustrating this book (the artist adds) has given me more pleasure than any work I have ever undertaken; for it is so graphic that it recalls, without any effort on my part, scenes which I am able to draw, not from imagination, but from actual observation."

In cloth, - - $3 75. To clergymen, - - $3 00

The Yale Lectures of Dr. Burton are extremely rich, fresh, and brilliant; full of his charming and fascinating personal force. I read them, as well as the sermons and addresses which are joined with them in the volume, . . . with a glow of enjoyment which the remembrance of them still brings back.—Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, Brooklyn.

It is a rare book in thought and in style, and ought to be widely circulated. Ministers will prize it highly, but all intelligent readers will be deeply interested, and will wonder that they had not earlier received something from so fertile a mind, and from a pen so captivating.—Rev. Dr. Patten, President Howard University, Washington, D. C.

The remarkable range, versatility, and depth of his mind, come out in this volume after a manner which makes it delightful reading.—Rev. Dr. G. M. Stone.

Art and form, study and reflection, recreation and contact, are treated of in a way so open-hearted, so Addisonian and Tennysonian, that to bathe in the wonderful stream is to secure new life for all the best faculties.—Hartford Post.

Of this volume, I have read every word, and some parts of it over and over again, and then over and over again to various friends. . . . He had the magnetic gift by which he attracted and appropriated the particles of truth in any and every doctrine and creed, and let the rest go.—Rev. H. M. Buckham, President University of Vermont.

There is a large man, a large heart, and the most absolute good sense in all he says, while religiously the utterances of the preacher go deep into the heart.—The Independent.

His mind was of great range and power. . . . His words were pictorial and suggestive, and they took on a grandeur of diction and musical flow which were Miltonic. So he invested every subject that he touched with a wonderful charm, and he gave it a breadth and connection that made it large.—New Englander and Yale Review.

A preacher cannot read everything, but a perusal of this book will be a source of so much stimulus and profit, that he should endeavor to make it one of the books to be read on the first opportunity. — Northwestern Christian Advocate.

The Diversions of a Diplomat in Turkey.

TURKISH lex talionis, OR JUMPING ON THE OLD MAN.

By HON. S. S. ("SUNSET") COX, late U. S. Minister to Turkey. Dedicated, by permission, to the Sultan. An Octavo Volume of 685 Pages. Profusely Illustrated. Steel-Print, Colored Engravings, Wood-Cuts, and Photo-Engravings. Illustrations by "CHIP" and COFFIN, and other well-known artists.

Mr. Cox's latest and best work. While the book sparkles with the brightest wit, it also gives a concise and interesting account of the Ottoman Empire. The perplexed Eastern Question is made clearer than in any volume yet published. The strange customs, legends, and superstitions are vividly and humorously depicted. Mr. Cox sees things through the eyes of a scholar, statesman, and humorist.

TURCOMAN.

Mr. S. S. Cox has given not only an extremely entertaining book, but one replete with information.—New York Sun.

Mr. Cox has produced a bright and attractive and useful book. . . . He has all his ready memory for a good story, and his pen-pictures are vigorous and life-like. . . . The style in which the book is brought out is beyond reproach.—New York Times.

No more attractive book in appearance was ever issued than this latest work of Mr. Cox. It contains about 700 pages, handsomely printed on superior paper, and protected by a binding as durable as it is artistic. . . . A valuable and readable result of his sojourn within the shadow of the Sublime Porte.—New York World.

A graphic sketch of his official experiences in one of the most picturesque and interesting countries in the world. . . . Mr. Cox writes, as he speaks, eloquently, and the fascination of his pleasant style need not dazzle us from fully recognizing the solid thought and shrewd observation which make the substance of the book.—New York Star.

His book is incomparably the most valuable that has been written on Turkey.—Boston Globe.

"Diversions of a Diplomat" is the best of his writings, . . . and is especially full and complete in its delineation of the real life as seen in the East.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The ceaseless charm of Mr. Cox is the genial glow of a subdued humor that he imparts to every subject that at all admits of it.—Washington Republican.

The present volume unites novel and instructive facts regarding the curious life of the East, with entertaining narrative, fun and satire.—Washington Herald.

We regard this as his masterpiece. . . . The make-up of this volume is very handsome, bound in red, of course, and showing the star and crescent. Its appearance recommends it, as does the excellent steel-portrait of the author.—The Presbyterian Observer, Baltimore, Md.

Genesis of the Civil War: The Story of Sumter.

By Maj.-Gen'l Samuel Wylie Crawford, A. M., M. D., LL. D. An Octavo Volume of about 600 Pages. Illustrated with Steel-Plate Portrait and numerous Wood-Cuts, Engraved from Photographs, and from Sketches Drawn at the Fort just previous to, and immediately after, the Bombardment. Fac-Similes of Celebrated Letters.

Although a vast amount of matter has been published relating to the War, we feel that in offering this book to the public, we are filling a page in our nation's history that has heretofore been blank. The movements of armies after war has actually begun are comparatively easily understood; but the events which make the existence of armed forces necessary are often shrouded in doubt. It is to dispel the cloud that has enveloped the history of 1860, and the early months of 1861, that this book is published. Of all that transpired at Sumter itself, and the forts and batteries surrounding it, General Crawford was an eye-witness—being senior staff-officer under Major Anderson. The private papers of such men as Gov. Francis W. Pickens, the Hon. William H. Trescott, U. S. Assistant-Secretary of State, Judge Campbell, the Hon. F. W. Seward, and many others, were put into General Crawford's hands. The official letter-book of the Confederate War Department was also in his possession, and a multitude of documents from various sources have been carefully and critically studied.

The story of Sumter has never been told with so much thoroughness, with such minuteness of detail, or from so many and widely different standpoints, or with more painstaking impartiality.—Philadelphia Press.

Of all the hundreds of volumes written about our civil war, one, and only one, will take its place as an undisputed and complete chapter in the greatest conflict of modern times. That one work is the recently issued volume of Major-General S. W. Crawford, entitled "The Genesis of the Civil War." . . . The intelligent reader . . . will read with interest and much instruction, the carefully prepared history of the struggle in Charleston Harbor. . . . The story of the assault upon Fort Sumter is one of thrilling interest. . . . His work is the one of many which will stand as accepted history for all time.—Philadelphia Sunday Times.

The most important contribution yet made to the history of political and military events from the election of Mr. Lincoln to the opening scene in the great conflict of arms. . . . It is a work of controlling authority.—Public Opinion, New York.

It is written with a sincere purpose to do justice to all men and events, and with commendable research and style of presentation, that together elevate it high among standard histories.—Boston Globe.

Its limited scope should hinder no one from recognizing the intrinsic importance and the great historical interest of the work.—Washington Post.

One of the most valuable contributions that have yet been made to the literature of the war. The volume is handsomely illustrated.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Table: How to Buy Food, How to Cook It, and How to Serve It.

By Alessandro Filippini. An Octavo Volume of nearly 600 Pages.

For twenty-four years Mr. Filippini was Delmonico's chef, and this work is endorsed by the Delmonicos. His experience in culinary art is probably greater than any living man's. He has prepared menus for many of the grand dinners given by the crowned heads of Europe. It is infinitely greater than a mere cook-book; for, while it gives many more recipes than any other work of the kind ever published, at the same time it contains invaluable advice as to how to buy what is best and most economical, and how to dress a table and serve meals. Much of the great success of the Delmonicos is due to Mr. Filippini's skill, the benefit of which he now gives to the world. One of the exceptional features of the book is that it is adapted to the humblest as well as the grandest style of living. No matter where placed, it will pay for itself many times over.

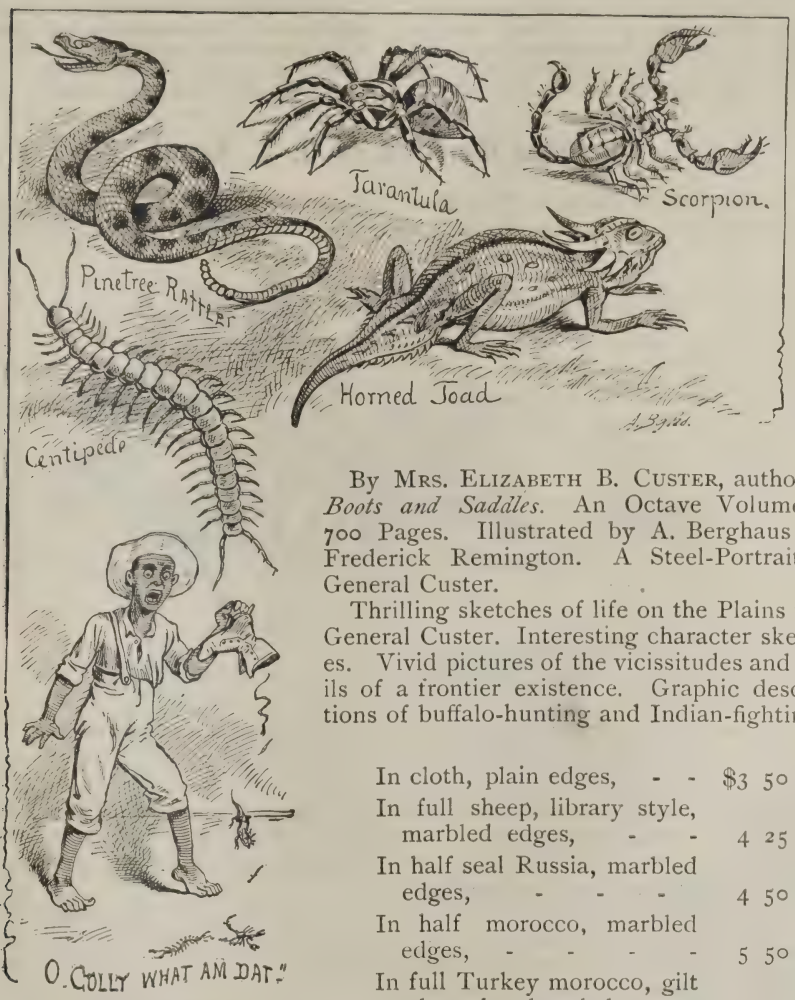
Tenting on the Plains; or, Custer in Kansas and Texas.



OUR BUNKIES.

By Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer, author of Boots and Saddles. An Octave Volume of 700 Pages. Illustrated by A. Berghaus and Frederick Remington. A Steel-Portrait of General Custer.

Thrilling sketches of life on the Plains with General Custer. Interesting character sketches. Vivid pictures of the vicissitudes and perils of a frontier existence. Graphic descriptions of buffalo-hunting and Indian-fighting.

In cloth, plain edges, - -	$3 50
In full sheep, library style, marbled edges, - -	4 25

Mrs. Custer's new book is full of faithful pictures of life at frontier posts, and in the Indian country. . . . The book is indirectly a biography of General Custer, for there is scarce a scene or incident in which does not appear the picturesque individuality of the splendid soldier, who, after years of handsome successes and marvellous escapes, gave up his life in a defeat more illustrious than any ordinary victory.—New York Herald.

Mrs. Custer writes easily and naturally, and with an ever-present admiration for her gallant husband, which is touching and delightful. The frontier life in camp is vividly depicted, and the intimacies of the military family are recorded with equal humor and spirit. . . . There is plenty of interesting anecdote and fresh narrative.—New York Tribune.

The book abounds in picturesque and often thrilling adventures, in ludicrous passages, and in quaint and original studies of character. It would be difficult to find truer and more animated pictures of garrison life, of hunting on the Plains, or of encounters with hostile Indians. . . . Her easy style adds greatly to the charm of her narrative.—New York Sun.

The book is as open as the sky. The dark clouds and the bright stars are not plainer than her trials and her joys, while there is always the central figure, whose presence makes day and whose absence is night. . . . It is the spontaneous unfolding of a young wife's devotion, as unaffected and as natural as the development of a flower. . . . It is a record of marches through Southern swamps and forests, of northers on land and a hurricane at sea, of perils of Indian warfare, by cholera, by floods —all serious, and sometimes disastrous.—New York Evening Post.

Mr. Remington's illustrations are characteristically good. Their animation, individuality, and expressiveness are in effective sympathy with the narrative.—Brooklyn Times.

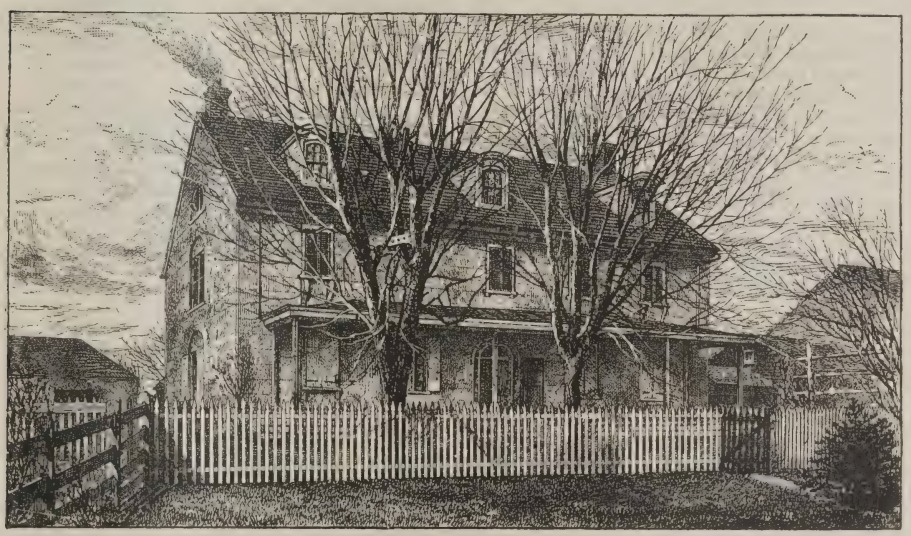
Reminiscences of Winfield Scott Hancock.

By his WIFE. In one Octavo Volume of about 325 Pages. Illustrated with Steel-Plate Portraits of General and Mrs. Hancock, an Etching of the School-House where General Hancock attended when a boy, and numerous Wood-Cut Portraits. Also Photo-Engravings of General Hancock's Birthplace, his Headquarters at Governor's Island, his Home at St. Louis, and other interesting scenes in his life.



BIRTHPLACE OF GENERAL HANCOCK, NORRISTOWN, PA.

We feel that in placing these reminiscences before the public, we are offering not only an exciting story of a peculiarly interesting and eventful career, but that the book is one of great permanent value, giving, as it does, a clear and full insight into the life and character of one of America's great soldiers. Mrs. Hancock is particularly well fitted for the task she has undertaken. Her life was so blended with her husband's that the work has the value of an autobiography. She shared with him the dangers and privations of a frontier existence, and was always as near to him as circumstances would permit. She writes of what she has seen and known. Humor and pathos follow each other through the chapters of these charming reminiscences, which are at once romantic and historical.

One of the most interesting books of biography and history treating of the men and events of the civil war. . . . A bright, womanly book, full of natural ease and grace.—Chicago Tribune.

A pleasantly written book of reminiscences, that tells of her experience as a soldier's wife, reveals her husband as he appears to her in private life, and incidentally gives similar domestic pictures of other distinguished men.—Philadelphia Ledger.

One of the most interesting books ever written by a woman, and, in a straightforward simple, charming, and womanly way, gives glimpses into the inner life and character of the great general that could be gotten in no other way. It ought to be bought and read by everybody.—Daily Democrat, Dayton, O.

The manner of the telling is as pleasant as the interest of the subject is great, and is marked by the easy grace and lucid language which many men strive all their lives, without success, to attain. . . . The book is admirably and copiously illustrated, and is clearly printed upon broad and attractive pages, with ample margins. We cordially commend it to our readers.—Journal of Military Service Institute, New York.

The life of such a man is necessarily invested with commanding interest for every student of contemporary history, and light upon it will be welcomed as eagerly by those who see in him only a prime political and social factor as by those who hold his office in veneration.—New York Sun.

The Life of Pope Leo XIII. is in every respect a publication of striking interest as well as of profound significance.—New York Herald.

A memorable contribution to contemporary literature, the faithful history of a great scholar, a great diplomat, a great prelate.—New York Journal.

The volume is of surpassing interest. It gives an authentic account of one of the great men of modern times — great not so much by virtue of his exalted office as for his singular purity and elevation of character, and his extraordinary ability to deal with questions of the greatest magnitude, relating both to the Church and to secular interests.—San Francisco Bulletin.

To look at, it is a handsome volume; to examine it carefully, it has been brought out with all the care that experienced publishers know how to bestow; to read it, it is full of the most delightful, most interesting information; and to study it critically, it is the result of a profound knowledge of the times we live in, and of the past from which the present has sprung.—Catholic Standard, Philadelphia.

The choice of the Rev. Dr. O'Reilly was a happy one. A brilliant style, a high degree of literary ability, artistic taste, thorough knowledge of the world, an imagination that relieves all he writes from any suspicion of dullness, fitted him eminently for the work assigned to him. — United States Catholic Historical Magazine.

The memoir commends itself to all Catholics on account of its subject, the high auspices and favorable conditions under which it has been written, and lastly, the marvelously faithful and successful execution of the work. — The Ave Maria, Notre Dame, Ind.

McClellan's Own Story.

In one Royal Octavo Volume of about 700 Pages. Illustrated with Steel-Plate Portrait and Numerous Fine Wood-Cuts. Engraved from Photographs taken during the War, and from Sketches drawn on the Field of Battle by A. R. Waud, the Great War Artist, who accompanied General McClellan during his Campaigns. Fac-Simile of a Celebrated Dispatch.

This book is exactly what its title indicates. McClellan, dead, lifts the veil which has concealed the true history of 1861 and 1862. For more than twenty years every intelligent American has been saying: "I wish I could hear McClellan's own story!" No man has occupied more closely the attention of his fellow-citizens. Thousands of them admired and loved him; many of them, led by partisan politicians, criticised and mistrusted him; and some violently maligned and slandered him.

Our George! This exclamation was of that affectionate familiarity, based on unbounded love and confidence, with which great generals have often inspired their men. It existed in the Army of the Potomac, at that early time, toward its creator and leader, and it never ceased to exist.—New York Herald.

The chapters of the volume alternate one of memoirs with one of private letters of the dates covered by the memoirs. We do not know of any parallel to this series of letters in any biography. It would be useless to comment on the intensity of their interest.—Journal of Commerce.

The book is admirably written, simply, directly, elegantly indeed, like all McClellan's writing. . . . In his private letters to his wife one sees his loyal, pure, and generous character as a man.—Chicago Times.

No recently published volume can compare in historical and in personal interest with this. He was, in the opinion of a vast number of people, the ablest commander which the United States has produced.—St. Louis Republican.

"McClellan's Own Story" is an interesting book, and a valuable one for the light it throws on the methods of the man who was without doubt the great military organizer of the war. —Sunday Chronicle, San Francisco.

No one can peruse these pages without admiration of those qualities of mind and heart which endeared him beyond measure to those under his command, and which won him the deserved respect of all who know how rare is the union of military capacity with the most unquestionable purity and rectitude of personal life.—The Palladium, New Haven, Conn.

"McClellan's Own Story" is meeting with the marked success which we predicted for it, and to which its excellence entitles it. It presents, as no other work could, certain of the more interesting features of the civil war. —Detroit Free Press.

The Legends and Myths of Hawaii: The Fables and Folk-Lore of a Strange People.

By His Hawaiian Majesty, Kalakaua. Edited, with an Introduction, by Hon. R. M. Daggett, late U. S. Minister to the Hawaiian Islands. An

MEETING-PLACE OF AN ANCIENT SECRET SOCIETY.

(From a Painting in the Royal Palace.)

Octavo Volume of 530 Pages. Two Steel-Portraits, and Twenty-Five other Beautiful Illustrations. An Exhaustive Index.

For many years it has been known that the Hawaiian, or Sandwich, Islands were rich in legends and fables, handed down through numberless generations. The beauty and poetry of many of these is hardly to be surpassed in either Grecian or Roman Mythology. Scholars will read this book with interest, as it is an investigation in a new field, and the general reader will find in these weird legends of a strange people, now nearly extinct, a charm lacking in modern romances. The Hawaiian Islands for thousands of years were thickly populated by fierce, war-loving, highly imaginative people, and through these myths there runs a stream of poetical fire which gives them an absorbing interest merely as stories, independent of their historical value.

Sheridan must rank as the ablest cavalry general of modern times, and his career is as romantic and interesting as it is wonderful. Of all our great generals, his life was the fullest of adventures; and his Personal Memoirs reads like a work of fiction. For the benefit of the military student, and those who want to enter into the details of his campaigns, he has prepared statistics in the form of notes and maps; but these are so arranged as not to interrupt the flow of the story.

His memoirs have the value of an important historical production, and the interest of a great work of fiction. It is a clear, concise, graphic, and yet simple account of a wonderful life.—New York Tribune.

The story reads like a romance, though the facts narrated are all hard, fast, and easily verifiable. . . . His book is a wonderful achievement, and, in directness, force, simplicity, and ease of understanding, makes a mental impression like the battle of Winchester. . . . The English is that which Cæsar would have written had he penned his Commentaries in the dominant language of the nineteenth century instead of in Latin.—New York Critic.

It is a most noble and useful work of entrancing interest. . . . It tells the story of a heroic life, with a directness and frankness of purpose, and a simplicity and modesty of expression, that cannot be too highly praised. —New York Sun.

His descriptions are wonderfully lucid and strong. Though not a writer by profession or experience, he has narrated this story with a vigor and clearness which many professional authors might well aspire to rival.—New York Times.

A flowing, modest, fascinating story of great events and deeds. . . . The style, like everything else about its author, is thoroughly American. It ranges in character from the forcible dignity befitting the great affairs, military and civil, which are mainly treated in the book, down through the pictorially descriptive, to the simply pathetic or the humorous, as the frequent anecdotes or the moving scenes in it may require.—Brooklyn Eagle.

General Sheridan is one of the most striking and picturesque figures in our national history. . . . His own story of the thrilling scenes through which he passed would essentially command universal attention. There is not a dull page, sentence, or line in his Memoirs. . . . The high level of vigor, of buoyancy, is held up to the end, and the reader forgets that the author was a dying man when he wrote his closing chapters.—Washington Post.

The story is of a great life and great exploits, simply and modestly told, with no rhetorical trick, but with a plain, soldierly frankness that rises sometimes to the highest art. . . . It is, interesting from the first page to the last.—Detroit Free Press.

Notable for their popular "story-telling," rushing ahead qualities. . . . Abundance of adventure, stirring incidents, and dramatic situations, such as one is accustomed to look for in a Waverley romance rather than in prosaic history or autobiography. – Cincinnati Times Star.

A Library of American Literature from the Earliest Settlement to the Present Time.

Compiled and Edited by Edmund Clarence Stedman and Ellen Mackay Hutchinson. In ten Octavo Volumes of over 500 Pages each. Fifteen Full-Page Portraits to each Volume. Many of these are Rare and Valuable.

CONTENTS:

Vol. I.—Early Colonial Literature, 1607–1675.
Vol. II.—Later Colonial Literature, 1676–1764.
Vol. III.—Literature of the Revolution, 1765–1777.
Vol. IV.—Literature of the Republic—Constitutional Period, 1778–1820.
Vol. V.—Literature of the Republic, 1821–1834.
Vols. VI., VII., VIII.—Literature of the Republic, 1835–1860.
Vols. IX., X.—Literature of the Republic, 1861–1887. Fully representing the writers that have arisen since the beginning of the civil war.

This work differs materially in character and scope from anything of the kind that has heretofore been published. We have issued it to meet a demand which is increasing daily. The last century has seen American literature raised to a position of such dignity that some knowledge of its growth must be considered a necessary part of even an ordinary education. The work is really the intellectual history of America, as it is a collection of the best selections that can be made from all that has been written by American authors, and is arranged chronologically, so that the reader may view the course of our literature, and note its development, from its inception in 1607 to its present variety and eminence. The work is a complete library in itself, every line of which reflects the best intellect of the period in which it was written. It is, and must remain, the standard collection of our national literature.

I have been looking over the noble volumes with hearty satisfaction. So far the great work is admirably done. The plan and execution seem to me deserving of unqualified praise. A breath of the New World blows through it.—JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

The "Library of American Literature" which Mr. E. C. Stedman and Miss E. M. Hutchinson have compiled, promises to be one of the worthiest works of the kind attempted; in fact, there is nothing quite of its kind in the same field. . . . We have derived from this charming compilation a more comprehensive knowledge of the literary periods it embraces than we had before. The impression of the work that remains is something delightful as concerns its matter, and something thoroughly respectful as concerns the editors' labors. In their brief introduction they give us at once the right point of view, and then they make haste to stand out of the way and let us enjoy a prospect of American literature which could hardly have been more complete. —WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS, in the "Editor's Study" of Harper's Monthly Magazine.

Here is a book which ought to be welcomed in the South as well as in the North, for it is just to both sections, reflecting all the currents of opinions which have helped to shape the history of our common country. In its catholicity and judicial impartiality we recognize a guarantee that this "Library of American Literature" will not be superseded in our day and generation.—MAYO W. HAZELTINE, in the New York Sun.

The mode of treatment is picturesque and original. It is untrammeled by narrow and technical rules, and is in refreshing contrast to the dry-as-dust methods of the professional compilers. Proceeding upon such a plan, it ought to be possible, not only to make the reader well acquainted with the progress of American literature, but to show him its relations to the life of the people with a vividness and accuracy which no historian has yet attempted. The volumes already submitted prove that conspicuous success has been attained in this endeavor. Coming to examine the work in detail, the reader soon discovers with what art and labor it has been constructed.—New York Tribune.

The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. (Tom Sawyer's Comrade.)

By MARK TWAIN. An Octavo Volume of 366 Pages. Illustrated by E. W. KEMBLE. A Full-Page Heliotype of the Bust of the Author, by KARL GERHARDT, with Fac-Simile Autograph.

The author relates the adventures of Huckleberry Finn, Tom Sawyer, and a negro named Jim, who, in their travels, fall in with two tramps engaged in "taking in" the different country towns through which they pass, by means of the missionary dodge, the temperance crusade, or any way that offers easily to raise a dishonest dollar. The writer follows these characters through their various adventures, until, finally, the tramps are properly and warmly clothed with a coat of tar and feathers, and the boys and Jim escape their persecutors and return safe to their friends. The book is the brightest and most humorous that Mark Twain has ever written. It is a companion to The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, but is complete in itself.

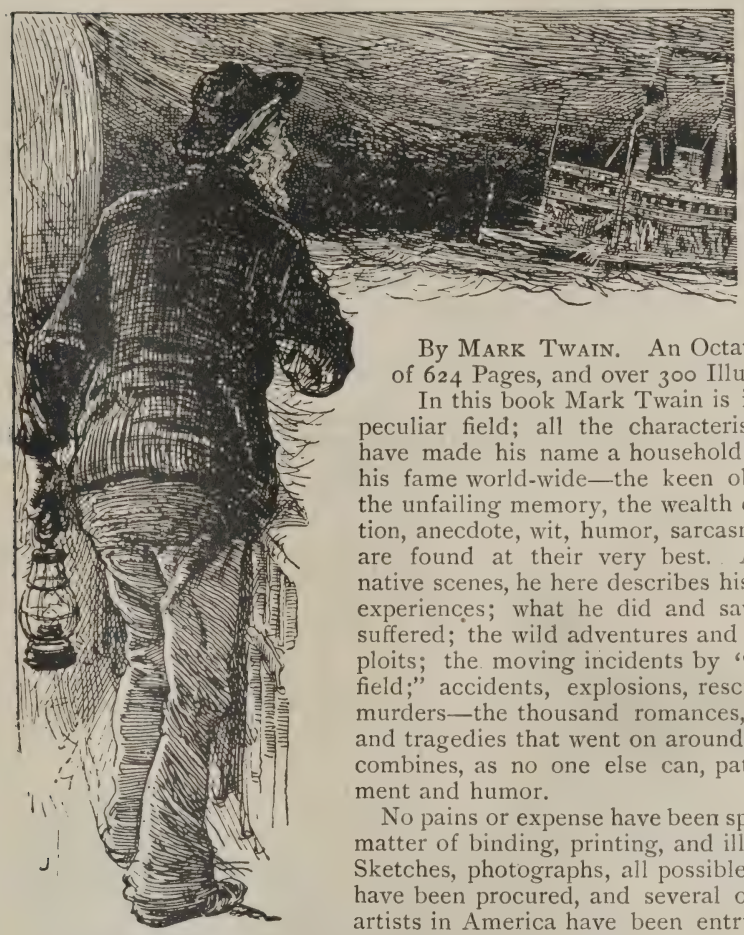
Life on the Mississippi.



THE SPECTRE STEAMER.

By MARK TWAIN. An Octavo Volume of 624 Pages, and over 300 Illustrations.

In this book Mark Twain is in his own peculiar field; all the characteristics which have made his name a household word, and his fame world-wide—the keen observation, the unfailing memory, the wealth of description, anecdote, wit, humor, sarcasm, fun—all are found at their very best. Among his native scenes, he here describes his own early experiences; what he did and saw, felt and suffered; the wild adventures and daring exploits; the moving incidents by "flood and field;" accidents, explosions, rescues, fights, murders—the thousand romances, comedies, and tragedies that went on around him. He combines, as no one else can, pathos, sentiment and humor.

No pains or expense have been spared in the matter of binding, printing, and illustrations. Sketches, photographs, all possible materials, have been procured, and several of the best artists in America have been entrusted with the drawings.

THE CROW.

An Octavo Volume of over 700 Pages. Illustrated by E. W. KEMBLE.

Certainly no one is more capable of judging what is entertaining than MARK TWAIN. For years he has carefully gathered what has struck him as being bright and amusing, and in this work he has been ably assisted. This collection has now been put into book form, and from the great care that has been bestowed upon it, and owing to the high source from which it emanates, it must become the standard Library of Humor. It contains characteristic selections from the works of Washington Irving, Harriet Beecher Stowe, George William Curtis, James Russell Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes, William Dean Howells, George W. Cable, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Charles Dudley Warner, Frank R. Stockton, Robert J. Burdette, Josh Billings, and a host of other well-known writters. A short biographical sketch of each author quoted from is given. Kemble's illustrations are in his best vein, and greatly enhance the value of the book.

If one wants the best collection of specimens of American humor, he must go to Mark Twain's "Library of Humor," for in it are the masterpieces. . . . We are first introduced to Mr. Clemens's "Jumping Frog;" then follows Charles Dudley Warner's "A Fight with a Trout;" while stretching away in almost endless procession are humorous tid-bits by Aldrich, Washington Irving, J. T. Trowbridge, and Lowell; John Hay's "Little Breeches," scintillations of Sunset Cox's wit, selections from George William Curtis's "Potiphar Papers," William Allen Butler's "Nothing to Wear," and—but there would hardly be an ending.—Hartford Post.

The book seems destined to be the standard library of humor, and everyone who enjoys laughing should own a copy. If every hearty laugh draws a nail from our coffin, this book must realize, in a measure, the dream of the ancients, who were constantly searching for the fountain of life. It is a book for young and old, for the rich and the poor, and will come to every one like a ray of sunshine.—Cortland (N. Y.) Standard.

It is a book to pick up at odd moments when time is wanting for long stories, and it is attractive enough to ensure that the reader will miss the train, or be too late for any engagement which might be pending, if he once begins to read it.—Republican, Denver, Col.

It is a long time since any volume has been issued which promises so much diversion as Mark Twain's "Library of Humor." It is a large volume of 700 pages, illustrated with cuts by Kemble, who has as keen an eye for the ludicrous as the humorists whom he has interpreted. The book is made up from Mark Twain's own scrap-book, . . . and is the best compilation of American humor that has ever been printed. . . . This is a book to put on a handy shelf, and to take down when one feels blue. As it has a laugh on every page, no depression can long resist its influences.—San Francisco Sunday Chronicle.

The Prince and the Pauper: A Tale for Young People of all Ages.

By MARK TWAIN. An Octavo Volume of about 400 Pages. Beautifully and Profusely Illustrated.

"BETHINK THEE, MY KING."

This book is a delightful romance of Edward VI. It is considered by many to be MARK TWAIN'S best work. Eminent critics have pronounced it the best child's story, in every respect, that has ever been written.

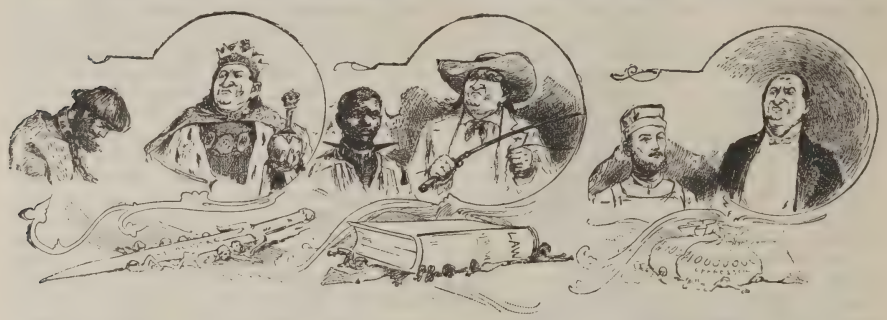
A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court.



"BROTHER!—TO DIRT LIKE THIS?" "BROTHER!—TO DIRT LIKE THIS?" "BROTHER!—TO DIRT LIKE THIS?"

By MARK TWAIN. A Square Octavo of about 600 Pages. About 250 Illustrations by DAN BEARD.

Both authors and publishers generally think that their latest publication is the best; but, keeping this prejudice in view, we feel safe in saying that this book is the best MARK TWAIN has ever produced. The work was written with an object—to show that true nobility is inherent, not inherited; that birth confers no rights not sustained by nature. It is a gird at Nobility and Royalty, and makes most irreverent fun of these sacred things. It is not a loosely connected number of incidents and essays, but a fascinating story, growing in interest from the first page to the last. It is bubbling over with bright and entirely original humor; its satire, though keen, is wholesome, and its pathos true and impressive.

Taking advantage of the theory of the transposition of bodies and epochs, the author suddenly thrusts back thirteen hundred years a hard-headed Connecticut mechanic and machinist, equipped with an exhaustive knowledge of the scientific and mechanical wonders of our day, who finds himself, alive and in the flesh, in King Arthur's Court among the iron-clad knights of the Round Table. He is there ten years, and uses his knowledge of modern science and invention with dazzling effect, easily taking first place as a magician, and pushing the enchanter, Merlin, from his supremacy. The Yankee becomes the most noted personage in the kingdom; he sets himself the task of turning the monarchy into a republic on the American plan. That he has stirring and often side-splittingly ludicrous adventures, and plenty of them, is a necessary result.

"AT THE TWELFTH REPETITION THEY FELL APART IN CHUNKS."

The Life and Letters of Roscoe Conkling.

By ALFRED R. CONKLING, Ph. B., LL. B. Dedicated to the People of New York. An Octavo Volume of about 600 Pages. A Steel Frontispiece of ROSCOE CONKLING. Fac-Similes of Important Letters to CONKLING from Grant, Hayes, Arthur, Garfield, Harrison, Thurman, Hamlin, and others, on the Democratic as well as on the Republican side.

The biography of ROSCOE CONKLING is to a large extent the political history of New York and of the United States from the year 1871 to the year 1884, and as such will be of wide and general interest, irrespective of individual political opinions and prejudices. The author has sought "to call ROSCOE CONKLING, as it were, to the witness-stand of public opinion and allow him to testify for himself." To this end he has made free use of his speeches, arguments, and letters, from the Presidential campaign of 1852 down to a day before the beginning of his fatal illness.

BON GAULTIER'S BOOK OF BALLADS.—By W. E. Aytoun and Theodore Martin. A new edition, including "Firmilian." Cloth, $1.00.

In all his poems Prof. Aytoun has put forth a sustained power and beauty of expression which have placed him in the foremost rank of the poets of his time. His "Lays" have all the historic truth and force of Macaulay, expressing noble thought by a delineation of generous and lofty natures, stated with fluency, vigor and movement. His ballad themes are selected from striking incidents and from stirring scenes of Scottish history, and he has thrown over them the light of an imagination at once picturesque and powerful.

The highest place among modern poetesses must be claimed for Mrs. Browning. In purity, loftiness of sentiment, feeling, and in intellectual power she is excelled only by Tennyson, whose works it is evident she had carefully studied. Nearly all her poems bear the impress of deep and sometimes melancholy thought, but show a high and fervid imagination. Her Sonnets from the Portuguese are as passionate as Shakespeare's all eminently beautiful. Of her Aurora Leigh, Ruskin said : "That it is the greatest poem which this century has produced in any language."

Few writers instruct so amusingly and amuse so instructively as Disraeli. ÆSOP'S FABLES.—Æsop, born in the sixth century before Christ, while travelling through Greece, recited his home truths. He did not write his fables, but they were easily remembered, became universally popular, and were passed on from mouth to mouth, and from generation to generation.

AMERICAN PEOPLE. An outcome of a visit to the United States.—By Sir J. Campbell, a traveller of wide experience. States his personal observations, with many interesting anecdotes about the relations of the white and black population in the South. The work must be read in connection with Bryce's American Commonwealth.

ANDERSEN'S FAIRY TALES.—The most charming of the world full of earnestness, humor, pathos, and fresh inventiveness, written in a style of carefully studied simplicity. They have become familiar to children in all countries.

A NOBLE SACRIFICE; or, Enthralled and Released.—By E. Werner. Translated by Dr. Raphael. A splendid bit of fiction, exceptionally interesting, true to life. The story is full of vigor and audacity, with startling dramatic situations.

ARABIAN NIGHTS.—The oriental fairyland, over which Queen Shehrazad reigns, is now and always will remain a classic.

AURORA LEIGH.—By Mrs. E. B. Browning, with Notes by Tuckerman. This elaborate poem or novel in blank verse Mrs. Browning characterized as the "most mature" of her works, and one into which her highest convictions upon life and art are entered. It contains scenes of the highest passion expressed in the most beautiful language.

AYTOUN'S (Prof.) LAYS OF THE SCOTTISH CAVALIERS.—We feel in reading these "Lays" that we are dealing, not with shadows, but with living men. We are swept back into the stirring times of old, when brave hearts and high souls declared themselves in brave deeds; when honor, self-denial, devotion were living things, when patriotism and loyalty were active principles.

BAILEY'S (P. J.) FESTUS.—A poem. A truly wonderful dramatic production, remarkable alike for its poetic power and its apparent neglect of the usual requirements of art. It contains many exquisite passages of genuine poetry. It called forth the admiration of authors such as Lytton, Thackeray, and Tennyson, who enthusiastically pronounced it a poem of great beauty.

BARON MUNCHHAUSEN.—The original Munchhausen was a German officer in the Russian service, who served against the Turks. He told the most extravagant stories about the campaign, till his fancy completely got the better of his memory, and he believed his own extravagant fictions. The wit and humor of these tales are simply delightful.

Bon Gaultier's BOOK OF BALLADS (Professor Aytoun's).—That burning, irrespressible energy of character which has ever distinguished Scotland breathes throughout all his works. Aytoun's ballads are full of the true fire; it now stirs and swells like a trumpet tone—now sinks in cadences sad and wild as the wail of a Highland dirge.

BUCKSKIN MOSE; OR, LIFE FROM THE LAKES TO THE PACIFIC.—Written by himself. Illustrated. A plain, truthful, but exceedingly interesting account of life and adventure in the Far West, especially among the miners and savages of Nevada and the country east of the Rocky Mountains. It describes the most thrilling achievements and experiences; is written with manly modesty, evincing the genuineness of the work and the true heroism of the author.

CHILD'S OWN BOOK AND TREASURY OF FAIRY STORIES.—With upwards of one hundred illustrations, after designs by eminent artists.

The best collection of Fairy Tales contained in any one volume, many of which are only to be found in this edition.

CHILDREN OF THE WORLD.—By Paul Heyse. One of the few great novels of the nineteenth century, written with incisive power by the most prominent living German author. It is a refined novel of modern society, also dealing sympathetically with artist life in Munich and Berlin. The characters are strongly and consistently drawn, the literary construction is perfect, the language poetic, graceful, and magnetic. The great questions of our age are handled fearlessly by a master mind, compelling attention from all thoughtful people. No modern novel that we know of will give more intellectual pleasure than this one.

COBBETT'S (WM.) GRAMMAR OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.—Edited by Robert Waters.

"Of all the books on English grammar that I have met with, William Cobbett's seems to me the best, and, indeed, the only one to be used with advantage in teaching English. His style is a model of correctness, of clearness, and of strength. He wrote English with unconscious ease."—Richard Grant White.

"The best English grammar extant for self-instruction."—School Board Chronicle.

"The only amusing grammar in the world."—Sir Henry Lytton Bulwer.

"As interesting as a story-book."—Hazlitt.

"Written with vigor, energy, and courage, joined to a force of understanding, a degree of logical power, and force of expression which has rarely been equalled."—Saturday Review.

COMING RACE. By Bulwer Lytton.—The most wonderful creation of one of England's greatest novelists. It contains fascinating descriptions of imaginary people, who are supposed to exist many ages after the present era. It produces a weird effect upon the reader by its fairy-like descriptions.

CRAIG'S PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY.—A popular dictionary of the English language, with illustrations on every page. A very attractive volume.

CYCLOPÆDIA OF BIBLE ILLUSTRATIONS, being a storehouse of Similies, Allegories, and Anecdotes. Edited by Rev. R. Newton, D.D.—A treasury of spiritual riches; altogether the best collection of similes, allegories, and anecdotes ever published. As a book of reference it will be found of great service to clergymen and Bible-class teachers; at the same time is a most profitable book to occupy leisure moments.

DANA'S (RICHARD) TWO YEARS BEFORE THE MAST.—The only book which gives any real idea of the life of a sailor; which pictures his thoughts, feelings, the forecastle—a faithful, simple record of the every-day duty, of enjoyments, and sufferings, written in language of singular fitness and ease.

DICKENS' CHILD'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND.

Beyond question the most readable short history of England. On the part of the famous novelist it was a labor of love and a matter of patriotism, and so he devoted the greatest care to its production and made it as attractive and reliable as he could. It is filled with beautiful descriptions, and as it is written in Dickens, inimitable style, it will always remain the rising genarations favorite history.

GALLUS; OR, ROMAN SCENES OF THE TIME OF AUGUSTUS. By W. A. Becker. Transl. by Frederick Metcalfe, B.D.—A wonderfully interesting story, presenting a flesh-and-blood picture of the Romans, and of their private life. The author has carefully avoided anything not founded on fact, and with this novel "has strewn with flowers the path of antiquity."

GRAY'S ELEGY.—One of the classics of English literature. Gray had exquisite felicity of choice; his dictionary had no vulgar word in it, no harsh one, but all culled from the luckiest mood of poets, and with a faint but delicious aroma of association. Lowell.

GOLDEN POEMS.—Hundreds of specimens of popular English and American poets adorn the pages, all of them worthy of being so chosen and many of them eminently sweet and beautiful.

GRIMM'S FAIRY TALES.—Singularly fascinating, the delight of children, young and old, more admired than any collection ever published.

GULLIVER'S TRAVELS.—The most original and extraordinary of all Swift's productions. While courtiers and politicians recognized in the adventures of Gulliver many satirical allusions to the court and politics of England, the great mass of readers saw and felt only the wonder and fascination of the narrative.

HANDBOOK OF GAMES; OR, SCIENCE IN EARNEST.—Remarkably entertaining and instructive book for the young. It teaches them the principles of science, set in the frame of a bright, wholesome story. We know that children will learn in an hour more in reading this book than they would in ten hours' study of ordinary text-books, because the knowledge is imparted in such a lucid manner that it seems to be child's play to learn and a delight to follow the instructions given.

HOME. By C. M. Sedgwick. A tale of NEW ENGLAND.—A story of deep natural interest and beauty, written in language elegant and pure. The thought of home is always found beneath her rich foliage of fancy and imagination. As a picture of New England life, it is above praise.

HOW TO GET ON IN THE WORLD, as displayed in the Life and Writings of William Cobbett. By R. Waters. A very valuable and entertaining biography, edited by a prominent educator. INGOLDSBY LEGENDS; OR, MIRTH AND MARVELS. By the Rev. Richard Harris Barham. In one vol., crown, 8vo. Illustrated.—For originality of design and diction, for quaint illustration and musical verse, the legends are not surpassed in our language, for, from the days of Hudibras to our time, the drollery invested in rhyme has never been so amply or so felicitously exemplified.

KABBALA; OR, THE TRUE SCIENCE OF LIGHT.—An introduction to the Philosophy and Theosophy of the Ancient Ages. By S. Pancoast

LADY OF THE LAKE (Sir Walter Scott).—There is a richness and spirit in this poem, a profusion of incident and a shifting brilliancy of coloring that reminds one of the witchery of Ariosto, and a constant elasticity and energy which seems to belong more peculiarly to Scott than any other author.—Jeffrey.

LAVINIA'S MARRIAGE.—Translated from the Swedish. A story that will be read with eagerness, as it treats of interesting people and presents a capital story. It deals with the questions of love and marriage, written in a fresh and attractive style.

LETTERS FROM HIGH LATITUDES.—A Yacht Voyage to Iceland, Jan Mayen, and Spitzbergen. By the Earl of Dufferin, ex-Governor-General of Canada and Viceroy of India. With portrait and illustrations. Lord Dufferin's remarkable letters, descriptive of his yacht voyages to Iceland and Jan Mayen, are graceful delineations of his intercourse with the Icelanders, the incidents of the cruise, and the scenery visited.

MARTINELO'S NEW YORK COOK BOOK—A perfect instructor in all branches of cookery and domestic economy. Illustrated. One of the best cook-books and housekeeper's assistant ever produced in this country. Its receipts are models of clear and intelligent statement based upon practical experience.

MATRIMONIAL AGENT (THE).—By A. von Winterfeld. Translated by El Rapha. An extremely amusing book, relating the experiences of a society lady who has a passion of marrying off dear friends. It is full of grotesque situations with no end of fun. It charms by its freshness, its varied incidents, its sparkling wit and genuine humor.

Mr. Gladstone and other famous critics and theologians called attention to its sterling merit, and it in consequence met with a most phenomenal sale. It has now reached the enviable position of an English classic.

SHAKESPEARE PORTRAYED BY HIMSELF. A Revelation of the Poet in the Career and Character of one of his own Dramatic Heroes. By Robert Waters. The work is written in good, strong, beautiful language, exceedingly picturesque, and altogether is the best popular life of Shakespeare that has ever appeared.

SOUVENIRS OF MADAME VIGÉE LE BRUN.—With a steel portrait, from an original painting by the author. 2 vols. in one. These memoirs occupy a very high place in literature, for they are witty, clever, and more readable than any novel. It is also of great historic value, as the author-painter resided in Paris before and during the French Revolution.

"An amusing book, which contains a great deal that is new and strange, and many anecdotes which are always entertaining."—Pall Mall Gazette.

ÉDITION DE LUXE OF

A TREASURY OF ENGLISH SONNETS. Edited from the original sources, with notes, by David M. Main. Illustrated with steel portraits. 1 vol., royal 8vo, 11¼ x 7½ x 2. 470 pages. $7.50.

This renowned and now acknowledged to be the choicest and standard selection of English sonnets has been out of print for some time. But as the publishers recognized a demand for an exceptionally handsome edition equal to the English large paper copies, which readily have sold for $30.00 each, they have endeavored, and now believe that they have succeeded in producing a volume superior to the work of any of the famous English printers. It is a superb book, printed from large type on laid paper of the best quality, cloth bound, with leaves uncut, with fine steel portraits. The price has been made so low as is consistent with first-class workmanship.

As the edition is limited to only 550 copies, the publishers expect ready sales for them, and therefore solicit early orders.

WILSON'S NOCTES AMBROSIANÆ.—The Noctes Ambrosianæ, by Prof. Wilson, J. G. Lockhart, James Hogg, and Dr. Maginn. A revised edition, with Steel Portraits, and Memoirs of the authors, and copiously annotated by R. Shelton Mackenzie, D.C.L. 6 vols., crown 8vo, including "Christopher North," a memoir of Prof. Wilson, from family papers and other sources. By his daughter, Mrs. Gordon. Cloth $9.00; half calf $18.00.

This series of imaginary conversations were supposed to have taken place between Christopher North (Wilson), the Ettrick Shepherd (Hogg), and others in the parlor of a tavern kept by one Ambrose in Edinburgh, hence the title Noctes Ambrosianæ. A too literal interpretation is not to be given to the scene of these festivities, however, but the true Ambroses must be looked for only in the realms of the imagination. It is one of the most curious and original works in the English language, a most singular and delightful outpouring of criticism, politics, and descriptions of feeling, character, and scenery, of verse and prose, of eloquence, and especially of wild fun. It breathes the very essense of the Bacchanalian revel of clever men. Professor Wilson is a writer of the most ardent and enthusiastic genius, whose eloquence is as the rush of mighty waters.

 This beautiful volume is an entirely new departure from the books hitherto published for young people; and while it fascinates and interests the eye and mind of the young, it will have equal fascination for their elders in enjoying the artist-studies contained on every page. The season begins with the Meadow Sweet of Field and Garden, and goes on with appropriate illustrations and verses to the Season of the Mistletoe, and appropriately carries out the idea contained in the prefatory verses:

"And let good cheer run round the year,
From meadow sweet to mistletoe."

We believe this will prove to be the drawing-room juvenile presentation book of the year.

Telegraphic Code.

To facilitate ordering our goods by telegraph, a code word has been provided for every item in this catalogue.

This code word or cipher is printed in Italics, and will be found at the end of the technical description of every line.

These ciphers have been taken from the well-known "Whitelaw Telegraphic Code," published in London in 1879, a work prepared by one familiar with the difficulties of telegraphing, and in the selection of words care has been taken to use only those in which the possibility of transposition in transmission is reduced to a minimum.

By the use of these words a message reading "Freight" (or express) "Fifty attorn," will convey to us that the sender wishes 50 copies of our Teacher's Bible No. 1981 by his usual Freight Route (or by express, as the case may be).

If any Bible is wanted with Denison's Patent Index on the edge, add "PATENT" to the word indicating the number.

It cannot be too carefully borne in mind that "DISTINCT WRITING is indispensable to correct telegraphing."

Respectfully,

E. & J. B. Young & Co.

CHAPTER 17.

1 The lot of Manasseh. 7 His coast. 12 The Canaanites not driven out. 14 The children of Joseph obtain another lot.

THERE was also a lot for the tribe of Manasseh; for he was the firstborn of Joseph; to wit, for Machir the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead: because he was a man of war, therefore he had Gilead and Bashan.

2 There was also a lot for the rest of the children of Manasseh by their families; for the children of Abiezer, and for the children of Helek, and for the children of Asriel, and for the children of Shechem, and for the children of Hepher, and for the children of Shemida: these were the male children of Manasseh the son of Joseph by their families.

16 And the children of Joseph said, The hill is not enough for us: and all the Canaanites that dwell in the land of the valley have chariots of iron, both they who are of Beth-shean and her towns, and they who are of the valley of Jezreel.

17 And Joshua spake unto the house of Joseph, even to Ephraim and to Manasseh, saying, Thou art a great people, and hast great power: thou shalt not have one lot only:

18 But the mountain shall be thine; for it is a wood, and thou shalt cut it down: and the outgoings of it shall be thine: for thou shalt drive out the Canaanites, though

Jacob's present. GENESIS, XXXII. His name changed.

AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.
2 And when Jacob saw them, he said, This is God's host: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim.
3 And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom.
4 And he commanded them, saying, Thus shall ye speak unto my lord Esau; Thy servant Jacob saith thus, I have sojourned with Laban, and stayed there until now:
5 And I have oxen, and asses, flocks, and menservants, and womenservants: and I have sent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight.
19 And so commanded he the second and the third, and all that followed the droves, saying, On this manner shall ye speak unto Esau, when ye find him.
20 And say ye moreover, Behold, thy servant Jacob is behind us. For he said, I will appease him with the present that goeth before me, and afterward I will see his face; peradventure he will accept of me.
21 So went the present over before him: and himself lodged that night in the company.
22 And he rose up that night, and took his two wives, and his two womenservants, and his eleven sons, and passed over the ford Jabbok.

David praiseth God. PSALMS. Outrage of the wicked.

PSALM IX.

1 David praiseth God for executing of judgment. 11 He inciteth others to praise him. 13 He prayeth that he may have cause to praise him.

To the chief Musician upon Muth-labben, A Psalm of David.

I WILL praise thee, O LORD, with my whole heart; I will shew forth all thy marvellous works.
2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will sing praise to thy name, O thou most High.
3 When mine enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at thy presence.
4 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause; thou satest in the throne judging right.
5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen, thou hast destroyed the wicked, thou hast put out their name for ever and ever.
6 O thou enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end: and thou hast destroyed cities; their memorial is perished with them.
7 But the LORD shall endure for ever: he hath prepared his throne for judgment.
8 And he shall judge the world in righteousness, he shall minister judgment to the people in uprightness.
9 The LORD also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble.
10 And they that know thy name will put their trust in thee: for thou, LORD, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.
11 Sing praises to the LORD, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings.
12 When he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth them: he forgetteth not the cry of the humble.
13 Have mercy upon me, O LORD; consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate me, thou that liftest me up from the gates of death:
14 That I may shew forth all thy praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoice in thy salvation.
15 The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken.
16 The LORD is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion. Selah.
17 The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God.
18 For the needy shall not always be forgotten: the expectation of the poor shall not perish for ever.
19 Arise, O LORD; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in thy sight.
20 Put them in fear, O LORD: that the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

PSALM X.

1 David complaineth to God of the outrage of the wicked. 12 He prayeth for remedy. 16 He professeth his confidence.

WHY standest thou afar off, O LORD? why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?
2 The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined.
3 For the wicked boasteth of his heart's desire, and blesseth the covet-

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen.

2 And Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou in the house? And she said, Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the house, save a pot of oil.

3 Then he said, Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty

19 And he said unto his father, My head, my head. And he said to a lad, Carry him to his mother.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out.

22 And she called unto her husband, and said, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he said, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon, nor sabbath. And she said, It shall be well.

The judgment of EZEKIEL. mount Seir.

CHAPTER XXXV.

The judgment of mount Seir for their hatred of Israel.

MOREOVER the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,
3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee most desolate.
4 I will lay thy cities waste, and boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.
14 Thus saith the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.
15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

The promulgation ISAIAH, 40. of the gospel.

CHAPTER 40.

1 The promulgation of the gospel. 3 The preaching of John Baptist. 9 The preaching of the apostles. 12 The prophet by the omnipotency of God, 18 and his incomparableness, 26 comforteth the people.

COMFORT ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.

2 Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath received of the LORD's hand double for all her sins.

3 The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the LORD, make straight in the desert a highway for our God.

4 Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain:

5 And the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it.

6 The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field:

7 The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the LORD bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass.

8 The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever.

9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain; O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!

10 Behold, the Lord GOD will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him.

11 He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young.

12 ¶ Who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out heaven with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath directed the Spirit of the LORD, or being his counsellor hath taught him?

The church's love SOLOMON'S SONG, 1. unto Christ.

CHAPTER 12.

1 The Creator is to be remembered in due time. 8 The preacher's care to edify. 13 The fear of God is the chief antidote of vanity.

REMEMBER now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them;

2 While the sun, or the light, or the moon, or the stars, be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain:

3 In the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders cease because they are few, and those that look out of the windows be darkened,

4 And the doors shall be shut in the streets, when the sound of the grinding is low, and he shall rise up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of musick shall be brought low;

5 Also when they shall be afraid of that which is high, and fears shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fail: because man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets:

6 Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern.

7 Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it.

8 ¶ Vanity of vanities, saith the preacher; all is vanity.

9 And moreover, because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge; yea, he gave good heed, and sought out, and set in order many proverbs.

This is the most comprehensive and valuable edition of the Holy Bible ever brought within the compass of a portable volume.

All the best Critical Editions and Translations, including the Revised Version, are, in the Variorum Notes, collected to date; the brief Explanatory Notes are increased, and the Poetical portions of the text are set out as in a Paragraph Bible, while the familiar arrangement of verses is otherwise preserved.

"It is called the 'Variorum' Bible because, in addition to the common English version of the Scriptures, with copious References, it shows at the bottom of each page: 1. All corrections of the text which have been suggested by the great historic translations, critical scholars, and commentators, from the earliest times to the present day. 2. All improved Readings or Translations, from the best scholars of all ages. The result of these vast labors of the most competent and devoted Biblical students are expressed in English, briefly and clearly, by a simple system of references that anybody can use, so that we have under the eye at once the ripe fruit of all that has been done through the centuries to enable the English student of to-day to examine carefully, and understand intelligently, the Word of God. The scholars, critics, commentators, etc., are indicated by symbols or initials, which enable the student to compare their judgments, estimate their value, and search further in their works if he wishes so to do. . . . As an English Bible this work is simply matchless."—The Ensign, March 20, 1890.

"It is typographically a bit of fine art; it is for the casual and the critical reader of the Bible who desires to be to any degree critical, an invaluable help. It deserves a wide circulation"
—Bishop JOHN H. VINCENT, Buffalo, N. Y.

"This edition of the Bible, which is the fruits of a prodigious amount of labor, is an invaluable help to thoughtful and studious readers of the sacred volume."
—Professor GEORGE P. FISHER, D.D., Yale College.

"The New Variorum Bible is the most useful Bible now in existence. The Old Testament Variorum Readings, with the names of experts attached, is worth vastly more than the Revised Version, with its indefinite references to authorities of various kinds."
—Professor A. C. BRIGGS, Union Theological Seminary, New York.

"Of course, it goes without saying that the Variorum is esteemed by us all the most scholarly, most helpful, and most complete of all Bibles. I think no other even compares to it. And the large print reference edition ought to place it in hands which the teachers' edition could not reach."
—Professor B. B. WARFIELD, Princeton University.

ST. LUKE, IV.

CHAPTER IV.

1 The temptation and fasting of Christ. 13 He overcometh the devil: 14 beginneth to preach. 16 The people of Nazareth admire his gracious words. 33 He cureth one possessed of a devil, 38 Peter's mother in law, 40 and divers other sick persons. 41 The devils acknowledge Christ, and are reproved for it. 43 He preacheth through the cities.

AND Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

9 And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence:

10 For it is written, He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee:

11 And in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.

The judgment of EZEKIEL, mount Seir.

CHAPTER XXXV.

The judgment of mount Seir for their hatred of Israel.

MOREOVER the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee most desolate.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

ST. JOHN, VII.

CHAPTER VII.

1 Jesus reproveth the ambition and boldness of his kinsmen: 10 goeth up from Galilee to the feast of tabernacles: 14 teacheth in the temple. 40 Divers opinions of him among the people. 45 The Pharisees are angry that their officers took him not, and chide with Nicodemus for taking his part.

AFTER these things Jesus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, because the Jews sought to kill him.

10 ¶ But when his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

11 Then the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?

12 And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him: for some

Paul's defence THE ACTS, 26. before Agrippa.

CHAPTER 26.

2 Paul, in the presence of Agrippa, declareth his life from his childhood, 12 and how miraculously he was converted, and called to his apostleship. 24 Festus chargeth him to be mad, whereunto he answereth modestly. 28 Agrippa is almost persuaded to be a Christian. 31 The whole company pronounce him innocent.

THEN Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself: rusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them.

11 And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities.

With the angelic host proclaim,
Christ is born in Bethlehem!

And take my sins away.

WE COMMEND TO THE NOTICE OF RECTORS, SUNDAY-SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS, AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN THE FORMATION OF S. S. LIBRARIES, THE FOLLOWING QUOTATION FROM AN ADDRESS

TO THE CONVENTION OF THE DIOCESE OF ALBANY BY ITS BISHOP, IN 1876.

"In this connection, I beg to call the attention of the Clergy to a list, which I have printed in the appendix, of books suitable for a Sunday-school Library. Remote from the cities, as so many of our parishes are, it will, I believe, be of real service to the Clergy; and I commend it with great confidence as presenting the best sort of reading for such a library; for its compilation is due to the kind interest of a Christian woman, whose culture, experience, and devotion admirably qualify her for the work."

The good work originated by the compiler of this list of books has been carried on by her with the same care and judgment that was shown in the compilation of the original list, until the total number of titles is now over 650. As there are at present several "Bishop Doane" lists in the field, for the sake of distinction and in order to enable those interested in the matter of Sunday-school Libraries to choose from a list which is not a commendation of the publications of any one house, but is a selection made with a view of giving THE BEST BOOKS FOR THE PURPOSE from the lists of a large number of publishers at home and abroad, we shall in future use the title and we cannot commend this compilation in better words than those used by the Bishop of Albany (as presenting the best sort of reading for such a Library) as quoted above.

THE ALBANY DIOCESE LIST OF SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOOKS

(Title copyrighted, 1888, by E. & J. B. Young & Co.),

The issue of the latest edition of the Albany Diocese List of Sunday-School Books completes the work of the faithful Churchwoman who gave to it her time and talents. Originating in a desire to provide a pure and healthful literature for the children of the Church, the plan received from its inception the sanction and warm approval of the Bishop of Albany, and was carried out under a sense of great responsibility, with a definite aim and purpose. No reward was looked for other than its success, and no effort was spared, either in sickness or health, to make the List worthy of the Churchly object she kept steadfastly in view. After more than twelve years of zealous devotion to this work, she lately passed to her rest. The wise discrimination and literary taste manifested in the selection of books for the Sunday-school, however rigid in requirement and application, were at all times eminently correct and just.

It is with pleasure we announce the continuation of the Albany Diocese List, and feel gratified that the task of supervision has fallen into the hands of one equally competent, painstaking, and zealous; one, moreover, who has the approval of the Bishop of Albany, as expressed in the following words: "My Dear ——: I shall be more than glad to have you continue the examination of Sunday-school books, and am very glad to feel that the work, which heretofore has been admirably done, is to pass into such safe and kindly hands. Always faithfully, Wm. Croswell Doane, Bishop of Albany."

The list above referred to will be sent post free to any address on application.

"It is really a delight in these days to take up the publications of the Christian Knowledge Society. They are unexceptionable in moral tone, in literary quality, and in general interest."

This Bible, with the AIDS, makes the most complete and reliable volume of Bible lore ever offered. Some of the more prominent articles are:

SUMMARY AND ANALYSIS of each BOOK of the OLD and NEW TESTAMENT. By Revs. STANLEY LEATHES and W. SANDAY.

HISTORICAL EPITOME; or, CHRONOLOGICAL ARRANGEMENT OF THE BIBLE. By Rev. P. THOMSON.

THE MUSIC OF THE BIBLE. By Dr. T. STAINER.

POETRY OF THE BIBLE. By Rev. T. K. CHEYNE.

CONCORDANCE of BIBLE WORDS, with their context (above 40,000 references).

COPYRIGHT MAPS (6), DOUBLE PAGE, FROM RECENT SURVEYS, INDEXED ON A NEW PLAN, etc.

The whole of the "AIDS" in this Bible makes 300 pages of closely printed matter, prepared by leading specialists in each department of Biblical Study, and gives the latest results of the best scholarship.

This Bible has been IMITATED but NOT EQUALLED.

The Venerable Archdeacon Farrar, in speaking of it says:

"The Book, as now completed, presents the best and most recent results of Biblical research in the smallest possible compass. . . . A Bible rich in information, which could only be gathered from a multitude of learned and expensive books, and from which even the most advanced scholar will still find something to learn."

The Dean of St. Paul's (Very Rev. R. W. Church) says:

"A wonderful digest of learning. The names of the various scholars who have taken part in the carrying out of the plan are, of course, warrant of care and accuracy, and certainly nothing so complete and comprehensive, in such a compass, has ever before been attempted."

ASK ALSO TO SEE THE

VARIORUM REFERENCE BIBLE.

It is the most comprehensive and valuable edition of the Holy Bible ever brought within the compass of a portable volume.

By its aid, many hitherto seemingly inexplicable sentences will be clearly set forth, many an obscure word will be presented with a new interpretation, and the careful and conscientious study of the Holy Scriptures will receive a fresh impetus.

It is the only book in the English language that puts the ordinary Bible reader on a footing with the Hebrew and Greek scholars. This it does by presenting in foot notes the fruits of all the labors of all the leading commentators, the results obtained from the examination of manuscripts, and the comparisons of the various critical editions of the text.

All this is done in such a manner that it leaves the text (which is the authorized version) in an unaltered state; yet gives, when read with the foot notes, an authorized and revised version in one, together with the essence of all Bible criticism and definition that is of any weight in determining the interpretation of God's word. For Specimen Page of this Bible see next page.

cir. 2218. 8 And Cush begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one in the earth.

9 He was a mighty [e] hunter [f] before the LORD: wherefore it is said, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the LORD.

10 [g] And the beginning of his kingdom was † Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar.

11 Out of that land [11] ‖ went forth Asshur, and builded Nineveh, and [12] ‖ the city Rehoboth, and Calah, 12 And Resen between Nineveh and Calah: the same is [13] a great city.

13 And Mizraim begat [14] Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim,

14 And [15] Pathrusim, and Casluhim, β ([h] out of whom came Philistim,) and Caphtorim.

15 ¶ And Canaan begat † Sidon his firstborn, and Heth,

16 And the Jebusite, and the Amorite, and the Girgasite,

17 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite,

18 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites spread abroad.

19 [i] And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comest to Gerar, unto † Gaza; as thou goest, unto Sodom, and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboim, even unto Lasha.

20 These are the sons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countries, and in their nations.

21 ¶ Unto Shem also, the father of all the children of Eber, [16] the brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were children born.

22 The [k] children of Shem; Elam, and Asshur, and † Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram.

23 And the children of Aram; Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash.

24 And Arphaxad begat † [l] Salah; and Salah begat Eber.

25 [m] And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of one was ‖ Peleg; for in his days [17] was the earth divided; and his brother's name was Joktan.

26 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah,

27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah,

28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba,

29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all these were the sons of Joktan.

30 And their dwelling was from Mesha, as thou goest unto Sephar [18] a mount of the east.

31 These are the sons of Shem, after their families, after their tongues, in their lands, after their nations.

32 [n] These are the families of the sons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations: [o] and [19] by these were the nations divided in the earth after the flood.

A NEW ALTAR SERVICE.

THE ORDER FOR THE

ADMINISTRATION OF THE HOLY COMMUNION,

WITH THE

COLLECTS, EPISTLES, AND GOSPELS

TO BE USED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, TOGETHER WITH THOSE APPOINTED FOR THE

Ordering, Making, and Consecration of

DEACONS, PRIESTS, AND BISHOPS,

AND FOR A

CONSECRATION OF A CHURCH OR CHAPEL.

This new edition of the Altar Service is made from an entirely new set of plates, embodying all the changes, rubrical and others, ordered by the General Convention of 1886. In the arrangement of the book the Eucharistic Office is bound in the centre of the book, and the Prayer of Consecration, Oblation, and Invocation, are printed complete on two opposite pages, so that the Celebrant does not have to turn a leaf while using this prayer. The book, complete in itself, does away with the need of a Triptych on the Altar.

It is handsomely printed, in Great Primer Type, on fine laid paper, and supplied in the following styles of binding:

	NET.
1430 Purple Persian, beveled boards, gilt edges,	$5 00
1431 Red Persian, beveled boards, gilt edges,	5 00
1432 Purple Turkey, beveled boards, gilt edges,	8 50
1433 Red Turkey, beveled boards, gilt edges,	9 00
1434 Red Levant, beveled boards, round corners, solid red and gold edges, silk sewed, flexible,	13 00

Postage, 22 cents extra.

NOTE.—If specially ordered, the Collects, Epistles, and Gospels, according to the Sarum use, for Marriages and Burials, can be added at an increase of 25 cents per copy.

IN PREPARATION, FOR EARLY PUBLICATION.

ISSUED FROM THE OFFICE OF

The Sunday School Times,

JOHN D. WATTLES, Publisher,

1031 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture.

By the Rt. Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, M.P.

A word from Mr. Gladstone, on any subject that is of interest to him, is sure of a welcome from Americans generally. But when Mr. Gladstone writes concerning the Book of books, an added interest attaches to his words in the minds of all. This series of articles now put in book-form were first issued simultaneously in the pages of The Sunday School Times, in this country, and in the pages of Good Words, in England. This arrangement was made directly with Mr. Gladstone by the proprietors of the two periodicals separately—he furnishing the copy in season for its simultaneous publication on both sides of the Atlantic. Bible lovers have reason to be grateful to Mr. Gladstone for the efficient service he has rendered to the cause of truth, in this series of important papers in exhibit of the majestic grandeur of the "Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture." Bound in cloth, with portrait of Mr. Gladstone. $1.00.

Yale Lectures on the Sunday-School.

The Sunday-School: Its Origin, Mission, Methods and Auxiliaries. The Lyman Beecher Lectures before Yale Divinity School, for 1888. By H. Clay Trumbull, editor of The Sunday School Times, author of "Kadesh-barnea," "The Blood Covenant," "Teaching and Teachers," etc.

Every pastor, superintendent and thoughtful Sunday school teacher will wish to possess this book sooner or later. It deals with the principles underlying the Sunday-school as an institution, and with its relations to the family, to the pulpit, and to other spheres of church work. 8½ x 5½ inches. 415 pages, handsomely bound in cloth, $1.50.

From The Independent.

"These lectures will not only hold their own in the brilliant series of Lyman Beecher Lectures before the Yale Divinity School, but they stand alone on merits of their own as the unique presentation of a subject which has not before received so worthy a treatment. The volume is prepared for convenient use, with a bibliographical and topical index."

From The Congregationalist.

"It is an evidence of the progress which has been made in recognizing the true dignity of the Sunday-school, that a course of lectures on this theme should have been called for in a leading theological seminary. It is an equally notable proof of the same thing, that, in response to such a call, such a course of lectures should have been secured."

Teaching and Teachers.

Dr. Trumbull's book, "Teaching and Teachers," has already found its way into the hands of many thousand Sunday-school workers. It is to-day the popular handbook on Sunday-school teaching; and the low price at which it is published puts it within the reach of all. Cloth, 5¼ by 7½ inches, 390 pages. One copy, $1.00; five or more copies to one address, 60 cents each.

From The National Baptist, Philadelphia, Pa.

"We hesitate a little in speaking of this book, from fear that our language may be thought extravagant. We believe that a better book on the subject has never appeared, and that, if read and pondered, it will open a new era in Bible-school instruction."

From The Christian Union, New York.

"Every teacher in Sunday-school will feel his work widened in scope by reading this book. It is by far the best that has yet appeared, or is likely to appear, on this topic, and the thoroughness for which this calls would be an unspeakable blessing to every school in the land."

A Model Superintendent.

An object-lesson will help a superintendent more than will a fine-spun theory. The book "A Model Superintendent," shows how a good superintendent actually did his work—in the study; with the teachers; in the desk; with the scholars; among the records; at special services. It is a sketch of the life and work of Henry P. Haven, of the International Lesson Committee, by H. CLAY TRUMBULL, editor of The Sunday School Times, 5 x 7½ inches, 194 pages. Price, bound in cloth, with fine steel portrait, $1.00.

From The New York Observer.

"He was indeed a model superintendent, and this book tells how he became such; it exhibits his methods, and gives, besides, the precise forms and exercises which he used. Edited so ably and intelligently, and possessing in itself such valuable characteristics, the volume will be widely useful."

From The Examiner and Chronicle, New York.

"We hardly know of a volume which so pleasantly and so thoroughly introduces a novice to the methods of work that have been introduced by that sanctified common sense with which Mr. Haven was liberally endowed, in our best regulated modern Sunday-schools."

Principles and Practice.

A series of brief essays by H. CLAY TRUMBULL.

Six volumes, each volume complete in itself.

1. Ourselves and Others.
2. Aspirations and Influences.
3. Seeing and Being.
4. Practical Paradoxes.
5. Character-Shaping and Character-Showing.
6. Duty-Knowing and Duty-Doing.

A distinctive feature of The Sunday School Times under its present management has been its editorial essays in the realm of character and of conduct; dealing with fundamental principles in their application to the affairs of every-day life. In response to numerous and many times repeated requests for the gathering of the more noteworthy of these essays into book form, for convenience of use and for permanent preservation, the editor has compiled a series of small volumes, into which are clustered, severally, those essays which bear a logical relation to one another and to a truth common to them all. Occasionally a title has been changed, and the essay itself recast, in order to bring out more clearly its main truth in connection with the other essays of its series.

A set of these six volumes, averaging 200 pages per book, handsomely bound in cloth, and enclosed in a box, will be sent postpaid to any address on receipt of $2.50. As a Christmas gift, this set of books will be most attractive and helpful. For less than a set, fifty cents per volume.

Hints on Child Training.

By H. CLAY TRUMBULL. A series of thirty chapters on the nature and scope and methods of the wise training of children.

This work is the ripest result of the life-time study and experience of a Christian educator, in the sphere of the home training of children, as distinct from their teaching in the week-day school or the Sunday-school. Every precept in its pages has been tested by the principles of Christian philosophy and by actual experiment in more than one generation of little ones. Cloth bound, over 300 pages. Price, $1.00.

Bound in fine leather, gilt edges, round corners, 50 cents; five or more, 40 cents each.

Sunday-School Periodicals.

The Sunday School Times. A 16-page weekly paper for superintendents pastors, teachers, the older scholars and all Bible students. This paper has been so widely adopted by schools of all denominations, in the United States and Canada, that its regular issue is now more than 150,000 copies per week.

The variety of reading-matter, outside of the lesson department for 1890, includes special articles from many eminent Christian writers, among whom are:

Rt. Hon, William Ewart Gladstone, M.P., who is writing a series of articles on important phases of Biblical criticism; Bishop Ellicott, Canon Farrar, and Miss Amelia B. Edwards, of England; the Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, of Brooklyn; President Patton and Professor Young, of Princeton; Professor Fisher, of Yale University; and President Broadus, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The International Sunday-school lessons will be treated in The Sunday-School Times each week during 1890 as follows: President Dwight, of Yale University, will furnish the "Critical Notes" on the New Testament lessons, and Professor Green, of Princeton, those on the Old Testament. Dr. Cunningham Geikie, of England, will present, in his graphic way, "The Lesson Story." The eloquent Dr. Alexander McLaren, of England, will continue his practical lesson articles. Bishop Warren will give his vigorous "Teaching Points." Dr. Trumbull, the editor of the paper, will supply "Illustrative Applications." Dr. A. F. Schauffler will continue the "Teaching Hints," as will Faith Latimer the "Hints for the Primary Teacher;" while the "Oriental Lesson-Lights" will come from the pen of Canon Tristram, of England, the noted Palestinian traveller and writer.

Reduced Terms: One copy, one year, $1.50; to ministers, $1.00. School clubs for any number of copies (more than one) mailed to individual addresses, $1.00 each per year; five or more copies in a package to one address, 50 cents each per year.

The Scholar's Lesson Guide. Issued quarterly. 16 pages. A brief help to the study of the International Sunday-school lessons. In the preparation of this quarterly, the aim has been to present a brief and simple plan of lesson study which the scholar would undertake, rather than a complicated one which he would let alone. It is prepared by a skilled worker at lesson helps. It is cheaper even than Lesson Leaves. Five or more copies, in a package to one address, 1 cent each per quarter; 4 cents each per year. Specimen copies free.

The Scholar's Magazine. A 32-page monthly publication, containing wholesome home reading for the scholars, also the International Sunday-school lessons. It is believed that this magazine will find its way into thousands of schools. Subscription price: 25 cents a year; for five or more copies, in a package to one address, 1 cent each per month, or 12 cents per year. Specimen copies free.

History of Detroit and Michigan.

By SILAS FARMER, City Historiographer
(By Appointment under Ordinance of 1843),
Member of American Historical Association, Webster Historical Society, Michigan Pioneer Society, etc.

It contains 1072 pages, in double columns, quarto form, with 648 illustrations, consisting of fac-similes of a variety of Old Records, Documents, Signatures, Hand-bills, Noted Localities, representations of Seals, Monuments, Banners, and relics of various kinds, together with a large number of maps and plans.

In range of subjects and fulness of treatment it is the most complete local history published in America. Fully one-third of the volume is devoted to matters that relate to Michigan in general, and the information is new and singularly interesting.

In every library the list of volumes on Michigan and Detroit is particularly meagre; this history will amply meet this want, and as a work of reference, no other volume cantake its place.

Over ten years of labor were spent upon the work; no expense was spared in its preparation, and it unfolds a large amount of authentic and surprising information hitherto unpublished and unknown.

It is printed on seventy pound super-sized and extra highly calendered paper, and is elegantly bound in genuine turkey morocco, with cloth sides and appropriate stamps and tool work in gold.

Price, complete in one volume, $10.00; in two volumes, with Biographical addition, $15.00.

THE CELEBRATED

BOOK OF MORMON

Is a Sacred Historical Record of the Ancient Inhabitants of America, and is the only book extant that clearly accounts for the existence of the wonderful ruins and mounds that have been found in South America and other portions of the Western Continent.

12mo, 635 pages minion. Cloth, 75 cents.

DUNCAN M. McALLISTER & CO.,

A New Work on an Old Subject.

A Short Tariff History of the United States, from 1783 to 1789. One vol., 12mo, cloth, with copious index. Price, $1.00.

This book brings out prominently these historical facts:

FIRST, That the American people tried almost absolute Free Trade for six years, or from 1783 to 1789, and that its extremely disastrous operation brought the Confederation of that period to the verge of anarchy.

SECOND, That, in consequence of that bitter experience, the present Union was formed, under the present Constitution, principally to enable Congress to protect home industry, by duties on imports and by navigation laws.

THIRD, That the protecting power, as formulated and established in the Constitution of the United States, was alien to every purpose of raising a revenue.

Quoted in Congress and by writers as authority. Nearly 6000 copies sold.
